

INTO THE VOID

How to navigate the space between where you are and where you're going without losing faith or sight of your vision

What did or does it feel like when you are in the void?

Reflect on a time you were in the void...can you remember how you got to the other side?

Where are you in the void?

What is the Quantum Leap your soul is calling you to take? What are you upleveling to?

When do you try to escape the void? How do you feel when you feel like you need to escape the void?

What do you resist about being in the void?

What is the big vision of what you are leveling up to?

Where the challenge is...what is in this for me?

What can I do to build my courage?

What is your purpose "big why" that you can pull you forward?
